1. Who we are

This website is operated by [legal name of the business, e.g. proprietorship, partnership, LLP or company] , trading as Bharat NRI Property Registration Services (“we”, “us”), with its office at [registered address] . By using this website or engaging our services, you (“you”) agree to these terms. If you do not agree, please do not use the website.

2. What we do

We help NRIs and other clients with documentation, registration, attestation and tax-related processes in India, including sale deeds, Power of Attorney, release and gift deeds, Wills, notary and attestation work, PAN applications and income tax returns. We coordinate with government offices, notaries, embassies, banks and professionals on your behalf.

Where a task needs an advocate or a Chartered Accountant, that professional acts under a separate written engagement and the rules of their profession. Visiting this website does not create a professional relationship with anyone.

3. Information on this website

The content is general information to help you understand the process. It is not legal, tax or financial advice for your case. Rules, fees and timelines differ by state, authority and document, and they change. Please confirm the position for your case with us before you act.

4. Quotes, fees and payment

- We give you a written quote that shows our professional fee and the government charges (stamp duty, registration fee, attestation fee and similar) separately.
- Government charges are paid at actuals. Our fee is as stated in the quote for the scope described.
- Pay only to the bank account or payment method written in your quote or invoice. Do not pay to any other account, even if someone claims to represent us. Please contact us to check if in doubt.
- We do not hold your sale proceeds or tax refunds. These are paid directly to your own account.
- Refunds of our fee: [state your refund and cancellation policy] .

5. Your responsibilities

- Give us true, complete and current information and genuine documents.
- Confirm that you have the right to deal with the property or matter, and the authority to sign.
- Read and approve drafts before you sign them. The decision to sign is yours.
- Tell us promptly about any change that affects your matter.

We will not prepare or process anything that is false, forged or unlawful, and we may stop work and report where the law requires.

6. Documents and couriers

We handle your documents with care and use them only for your matter. Please send originals only when we ask. Couriers and postal services are outside our control, so use a tracked service and keep copies.

7. Timelines and third parties

Timelines we give are estimates. Delays can arise from government offices, notaries, embassies, banks, couriers or missing documents. We are not responsible for decisions, delays or fees imposed by these third parties, but we will keep you informed and help you handle them.

8. No guarantee of outcome

We work with skill and care, but we cannot guarantee that an authority will accept an application, that a transaction will complete, or that a refund will be granted or issued by a particular date.

9. Limitation of liability

To the extent allowed by law, we are not liable for indirect or consequential loss, or for loss caused by incorrect or incomplete information or documents supplied by you or by the acts of third parties. Our total liability for any one matter is limited to the professional fees you paid us for it, [confirm cap with your advocate] . Nothing in these terms excludes liability that cannot be excluded under Indian law.

10. Confidentiality

We keep your information and documents confidential, as described in our Privacy Policy, and share them only as needed for your matter or as the law requires.

11. Communication

You agree that we may contact you by phone, email and WhatsApp about your enquiry or matter. You can ask us to stop non-essential messages at any time.

12. Acceptable use and intellectual property

Do not misuse the website, attempt to break its security, or copy its content for commercial use without permission. The text, design and logo on this website belong to us or our licensors.

13. Links to other websites

We may link to government and other websites. We do not control them and are not responsible for their content.

14. Changes and ending services

We may update these terms from time to time. The version on this page applies from the date shown above. Either of us may end an engagement by written notice. You remain responsible for work already done and government charges already paid.

15. Governing law and disputes

These terms are governed by the laws of India. We will first try to resolve any complaint by discussion. If it is not resolved, the courts at [city, e.g. Bengaluru] will have jurisdiction, [or choose arbitration, with your advocate's advice] .

16. Contact and grievances

Grievance contact: [name] , [email] , [phone] , [office address] . We will acknowledge complaints within [e.g. 48 hours] and aim to resolve them within [e.g. 15 days] .
